INTERIORS

W

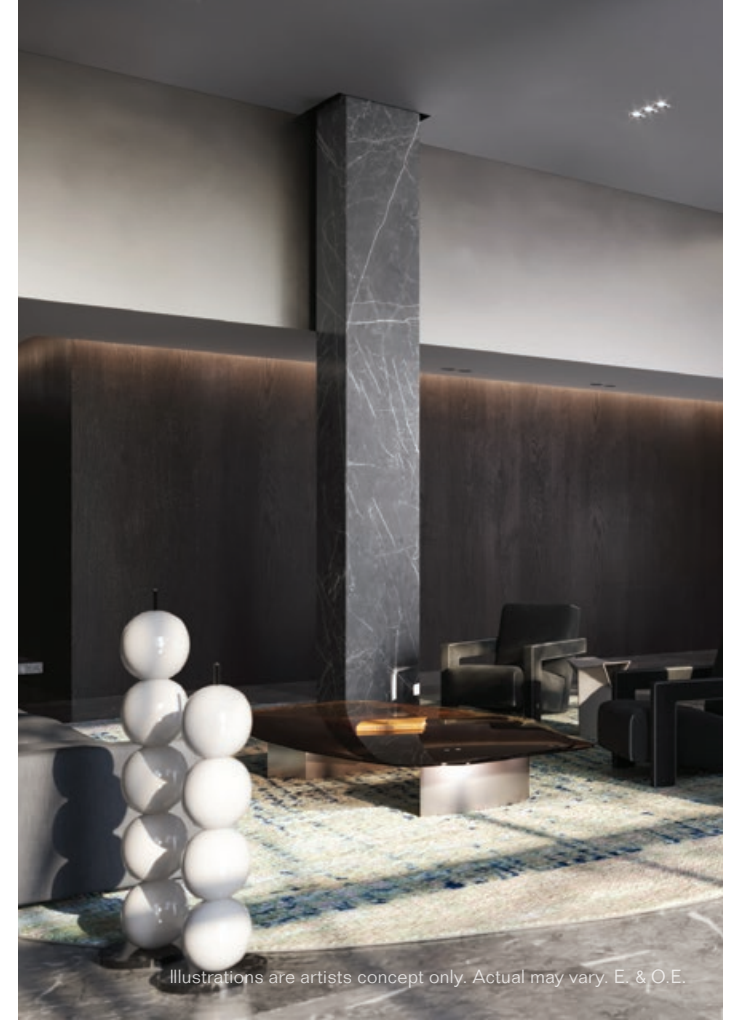

The Design District is a master-planned downtown condominium community of three 31-storey towers looking out on the dynamic city. But despite this scale and the impression of strength and confidence the community evokes, the interiors maintain an intimate feel. Walking into the tranquil lobby, you are immediately compelled to slow down, to take in your surroundings and appreciate the thought and detail that has gone into creating this comfortably elegant space.

Comfortable Elegance.

Diego Burdi

Interior designer Diego Burdi, Creative Director of Burdiflek, was inspired to create interiors that drew from nature's canvas – wood, stone, natural tones – to bring a certain nobility to the finishings. These warm, inviting spaces are intended to make visitors and residents feel comfortable and refreshed.

The amenity spaces at The Design District are a study of texture and colour, with woodwork softening the look and feel. The coworking space, perfect for those working from home or just looking for a peaceful downtime venue, is fashioned after a comfortable pavilion. The gym offers views out over the outdoor pool; big windows and specialized flooring conjure motivation to cultivate fitness and wellness.
